WEALTH INSIGHT #028

Good Education Helps Us Decide Wisely

29 August 2026 | Knowledge | 3 minutes

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Education is not shown only by what we know. It is shown by making sensible decisions even when a situation is unclear.
Isocrates

What does it mean?

Isocrates says that an educated person does not simply know a lot. They can also judge everyday situations well and act appropriately. Today's thought clearly paraphrases this idea.

In daily life, we rarely know every fact. A simple process helps: write down the facts you know, name the open questions and check the possible results. This turns knowledge into a well-founded decision.

Put it into practice

01 Write down the decision you need to make.

02 Note the facts you know and one question that is still open.

03 Consider which possible result matters most to you.

YOUR TASK FOR TODAY

In five minutes, write one line about the facts you know, the most important open question and the most important possible result.

YOUR QUESTION

What information do you still need to make a sensible decision?
